“The finish line is just a few steps away!” by J. Walker

Asbury Park School District Community:

First and foremost, I hope all the fathers and the many who "father" had a wonderful day yesterday. Sometimes fathers receive a little less recognition from society, but please remember that we are critical in the lives of our children and should be recognized consistently. So today, I want to take the opportunity to acknowledge the many ways you support your children and those you mentor.

This week, students and staff will have half day dismissals at 12:30 p.m. and our last day of school is Wednesday, June 22. We continue to plan to confront the new challenges of our fiscal reductions while being focused on improving our academic outcomes for students. I want to thank the APSD staff for being resolute and dedicated during very uncertain experiences.

The culmination of the school year is an exciting time when we enjoy the many school activities, among them graduation. We know that after the last two years of the pandemic, we all have learned how important these types of celebrations are for our emotional sanity. Let's try to stay safe while we celebrate the successes and milestones of your child(ren).

In closing, we continue to ensure that we are asking families to register their students for our Summer Program. We still have time to ensure “Summer Academic Lost” is minimized for those enrolled in our program. If you are seeking recreational opportunities for your child over the summer, we are offering some great partnerships with the City of Asbury Recreation as well.

Thank you.
